15 Killed In Fire At Conn. Hospital

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Fire raced through the ninth floor of the Hartford Hospital for 45 minutes Friday and killed 15 patients, visitors and medical aides.

Scores of other persons were trapped in their rooms until rescue workers, fighting through smoke and fire, carried them downstairs in their arms — some by stairs, others by a few elevators still operating.

Some of the patients went down with plasma bottles still attached to their arms. Many were seriously ill.

Nurses dashed through the corridors slamming doors until fire and an explosion forced them, too, into rooms.

Some patients, well enough to talk, stood at their windows and screamed for help. When firemen got their ladders up, most reached only to the eighth floor—yards away.

5 Are Patients

Five of the dead were patients, six were visitors — five of them wives visiting their husbands—one an intern, one a nurse and two were employees of the private hospital.

There were 793 patients in the hospital when the fire burst out of a trash chute at 2:44 p.m. Witnesses at a hearing later said minor fires had occurred in the chute earlier this year.

A hospital spokesman said a tossed cigarette butt may have been responsible.

Flames burst from a chute on the ninth floor and raced along a corridor. Heavy smoke gushed through the upper floors of the $10-million, 13-story wing of the hospital. The wing is only 13

Giant Hemlock Is Yule Tree

HARRISBURG (AP) — A giant 60-foot hemlock, believed to have taken root back in the days of the Civil War, was mounted in front of the Capitol Friday as Pennsylvania's official 1961 Christmas tree.

The tree was chopped down Thursday in the Tuscarora woodlands of Perry County and hauled by flat-bed trailer to Harrisburg. A 30-foot Norway spruce was mounted in the Capitol rotunda.

By LEWIS HAWKINS
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Communist party of the United States pleaded innocent Friday to charges of failing to register as an agent of the Soviet Union. It is scheduled to go to trial Feb. 1.

The plea was made before Chief Judge Matthew F. McGuire in U.S. District Court. Washington attorney Joseph Forer entered the plea and waived reading of the 12-count indictment which was returned last Friday by a federal grand jury.

If convicted, the party is subject to a $10,000 fine for each day it refuses to register under the 1950 internal security law.

Also present in court was Gus Hall, regarded as the general secretary of the Communist party in this country. The indictment was served on Hall last Saturday in Yonkers, N.Y.

Hall would not tell newsmen just what his present party status is, saying with a smile "You can refer to me just as Dear Old Gus Hall."

Doesn't Say
Hall did release a statement charging that the law under which the party was indicted "robs the people, the voters, of the right of political choice." The Communists argue that the 1950 law has the effect of outlawing the party.

The indictment against the party is the only one yet returned. Deadline for party registration passed Nov. 20 and that for registration of the party officers passed Nov. 30. Remaining is a Dec. 20 deadline for registration of individual party members.

If indicted and convicted, party

Man Hurt In 3-Car Crash In Mt. Pocono

MT. POCONO — One person was slightly injured in a three-car accident involving a Pennsylvania State Police Patrol car and two other vehicles at the intersection of Route 611 and Woodland Rd.

State Police here said a car driven by Trooper Stanley Simochowski of 124 Vine St., Forest City, stationed at the local barracks, was proceeding south on 611 when a car pulled out of Woodland Rd., across the northbound traffic lane and into the path of Simochowski's car.

Investigators said Simochowski swung his vehicle to the right in an attempt to avoid a collision and struck parked cars owned by U. R. and Patricia F. McKeever, Mt. Pocono, and Joseph A. Meluta, Highland Inn, Mt. Pocono.

The McKeever car was unoccupied. Meluta, sitting in his car, received a bruised right shoulder.

The driver of the car which pulled in front of Simochowski was identified as Harry Webberking, 1658 Mosey Ave., Scranton. Troopers said he will be charged with failure to yield the right of way.

Opens Windows

"We all opened the windows and the smoke went out. So we just stayed there and tried not to panic."

Everyone in his room was rescued, escaping down a darkened elevator, with hospital aides helping.

One nurse, Lois Daly, helped close windows and patients' doors even as she watched the flames and then, when she heard explosions, darted into a room with 10 others.

In the suffocating smoke, they put wet towels over their faces to filter the air and opened a window.

"For a brief moment I thought this was curtains," she said. But then they grew calm and awaited rescue.

The fire was soon brought under control, but confusion surrounded the disaster for hours.

There were conflicting reports at first on the number of dead until the hospital placed the casualties at 15. Then hundreds of persons crowded around the hospital's information desk to get word on their relatives.

Heavy Snows Blast Into Parts Of New York, Penna.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Heavy snow burdened sections of the Northeast Friday, shutting schools and slowing travel in some areas.

Up to two feet of snow carpeted the land near Lakes Erie and Ontario in New York State. Many traffic accidents occurred.

New York State Police reported roads were open but in poor condition. Plows were trying to keep up with the snow in the Syracuse region.

Interstate 81 was blocked for a while by jackknifed trucks, but was cleared later.

Brisk westerly winds carried snow into Chautauque, Cattaraugus and southern Erie counties, but Buffalo and New York City escaped the storm. Portions of the Adirondack Mountains east and southeast of Lake Ontario had more than a foot of snow.

Light To Heavy
Snow that ranged from light to heavy made driving extra hazardous and brought out cinder-strewing crews in western Pennsylvania. Two separate skidding accidents killed three women.

Up to a foot of snow fell in Warren County, Pa., and 10 inches in Erie County. About 5,000 public school children were given the day off in Erie County.

Another storm formed in the Rockies and swept eastward, spreading snow in Wyoming, Montana, Colorado, Missouri and the Dakotas, a blend of snow and rain in Nebraska and Kansas, and sleet in northern Oklahoma.

That storm headed for the central section of the country. Heavy snow warnings were issued for northeastern Kansas, southeastern Nebraska, northwestern Missouri and much of Iowa.

Cold weather clung to most of the North, with readings ranging down to 10 below zero in Bemidji, Minn., and 2 below in Grand Forks, N.D.

Slayer Of Five Is Seized In Fla.; Posed As Refugee

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—An escaped madman, wanted in the wild bayonet massacre of his brother-in-law's family in New York, has been seized by chance while roving the Florida Keys in a rowboat. He was posing as a Cuban refugee.

The fugitive was using the name Mario Levi. At first he claimed to have gone to Cuba from his native Trieste, on the Italian-Yugoslavian border. Authorities speculated that he hoped for quick deportation to Trieste before it could be discovered that he was wanted in New York.

The man, Mate (Mike) Ivanov, 37, a stocky, dark-haired Yugoslav immigrant, is accused in a New York warrant of running amok Nov. 25 in the modest Long Island home of the brother-in-law who had given him haven in this country a year ago.

All Five Killed
When police came upon the scene next day, they found all five members of the Peter Gregov family stabbed and slashed to death. A French bayonet found on the premises was identified as the murder weapon.

Even the Gregovs' pet poodle was slain with 17 stab wounds during the orgy.

A clue to the motive was contained in a note signed by Ivanov and found in the Gregov home. Written in Croatian, it read in part:

"They put me for lifetime in the crazy house. I begged all of them that I should be helped and they should let me be free of the crazy house. Nobody helped me and therefore I am sentenced to death in the crazy house.

"So before my death I have to get even."

Hospital Patient
Domestic difficulties between Ivanov and his wife, Tomica, 35, led to the intervention of the wife's brother, Gregov. The upshot was that Ivanov was committed last June 12 to the Central Islip State Hospital on Long Island. He escaped Nov. 15.

The hospital called him a victim of chronic mental illness but said he was not regarded as dangerous. However, a man who had employed Ivanov as a busboy found him arrogant and bad-tempered. And relatives said he frequently mistreated his wife.

Ivanov, 5 feet 9 and weighing 190 pounds, was known as a judo expert, a man of considerable strength.

Nassau County police claimed "irrefutable evidence" that Ivanov was on the scene of the massacre at Mineola, N.Y. They obtained a first-degree murder warrant against him and sent out a 13-state alarm.

People claiming to know Ivanov reported seeing him in the metropolitan New York area as late as Dec. 2.

However, on Dec. 5, a purported Cuban refugee was taken into custody near Marathon in the Florida Keys.

His fingerprints were sent to the FBI in Washington and Friday it was confirmed that he was Ivanov.

FBI agent Wesley Grapp said Ivanov did not make a statement to him about the slayings when arrested.

Victims of the Mineola massacre were the brother-in-law, Peter Gregov, 39, Mrs. Gregov, 35, and their three sons, Peter Jr., 17, Ronald, 15, and Michael, 11.

JFK To Make Caracas Trip Despite Riots

By WHITNEY SHOEMAKER
PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President Kennedy is sticking with his promise to make a goodwill trip to Venezuela next week-end despite anti-U.S. demonstrations in Caracas.

Acting White House press secretary Andrew T. Hatcher told newsmen Friday that, "Nothing has happened in the past 48 hours, specifically the demonstrations, which would deter the President from continuing with his plans to visit Latin America."

Caracas was the scene of a rock-throwing attack on former Vice President Richard M. Nixon in 1958.

Hatcher termed published accounts of Thursday's demonstrations "slightly exaggerated." He said White House aides had been in touch with the U.S. Embassy in Caracas, capital of Venezuela.

The President and Mrs. Kennedy are scheduled to be in Caracas a week from Saturday. They expect to leave Washington Dec. 15 on a four-day journey that will take them to Puerto Rico en route to Venezuela and Colombia.

Gerald Behn, head of the White House Secret Service detail; press secretary Pierre Salinger; Capt. Tazewell Shepard, the President's naval aide, and other White House assistants were in Caracas on a survey of places the Kennedys will visit.

Such surveys are normal in advance of a presidential trip. Hatcher said the group would determine what has happened in Caracas and make arrangements to the Kennedys' stay there and at Bogota, capital of Colombia.

Viet Nam Is Threat To Peace, Says Rusk

By SPENCER DAVIS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and other allied countries are actively discussing additional aid to South Viet Nam so it can block a Communist drive which poses a threat to world peace.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk made this disclosure at a news conference Friday, immediately following release of a 155-page State Department "White Paper" on Viet Nam. This document spelled out a "clear and present danger" of a Communist takeover by North Viet Nam, supported by the rest of the Communist world.

Declares Anew

Rusk declared anew that North Viet Nam's campaign of subversion, terror and armed infiltration of South Viet Nam is a serious threat to world peace.

He said the State Department White Paper makes clear that South Viet Nam needs additional help if it is not to be overrun by the Reds.

Rusk did not name the other nations now discussing aid for South Viet Nam. But it is known that consultations were held at the State Department Thursday with other representatives of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

Besides the United States SEATO includes Britain, France, Thailand, the Philippines, Pakistan, Australia, and New Zealand. The purpose of the special emphasis by Rusk and the issuance of the formal White Paper was to alert world public opinion to the danger in South Viet Nam and to justify additional help, despite the 1954 Geneva agreement, which theoretically ended the fighting in Viet Nam.

Not Indifferent

"It is not a violation of an agreement of this sort to take steps to protect oneself against the other party's breach, even though, in the absence of such a breach, those steps might not be considered normal," Rusk said.

Rusk also brushed aside warnings by Communist China that it would not remain indifferent to increased U.S. assistance to South Viet Nam.

"The Communist powers, themselves, have not been indifferent to South Viet Nam for the last several years," Rusk snapped.

The State Department White Paper foresaw these consequences of a Communist victory in all Viet Nam:

"It would doubtless seal the fate of Laos, where the Communists already control about half the country."

As of Nov. 15, the date on which the charts were based, this was the status of the roads in Pennsylvania, according to the department: study, 80 miles; preliminary engineering, 291.6 miles (including 195 miles which had not reached the state of public hearings); final design, 420.9 miles; under construction, 133.4 miles.

Of the mileage under construction, 35.1 is on the Keystone Shortway and 29.9 on the Cumberland Valley Freeway.

Other roads under construction included:

West Virginia-Washington, Pa., 16.4 miles; Washington, Pa.-New Stanton Turnpike interchange, final 4.5 miles; Pittsburgh-Erie Expressway, 4.1 miles; Anthracite Expressway, 1.3 miles; Penn-Can Expressway, final 5.9 miles; Washington, Pa., south to West Virginia state line, 2.5 miles.

Other Keystone Shortway figures show 6.2 miles are in service (Stroudsburg bypass), 76 in preliminary engineering and 192.2 under final design. The study phase has been completed.

George Does Bang Up Job—When He Isn't Banged Up

IN CASE you think your small-game hunting season was a "bust," look at things from George's standpoint.

George is the gunning companion of fifteen-year-old Keith Hester, Chipperfield Drive, Stroudsburg, and while George is no member of the canine aristocracy, he is the kind of a dog to inspire clichés like "man's best friend" and "a boy and his dog." A real solid personality.

On opening day of the season, George was hot on the trail of a fast moving bunny when he and the rabbit picked up a blast of Number Six fine shot.

Back In Woods

After the veterinarian had extracted most of the pellets from

George's hide and told him he might be blind in one eye from one of the pellets, George seemed to write off the whole deal as an occupational hazard and in a few days was back in the woods pushing the bunnies again.

But, as we humans say, this was just not Georges day. A week or so later, George was driving a rabbit to the point where he and the rabbit both had a full head of steam going.

The bunny wheeled sharply and so did George and when he did, he tumbled down a stone fence row, shattering a bone in his thigh.

No More Hunting

After another sojourn at the vet's, George is home again with Keith, his leg encased in a plaster cast. No more hunting for George this year—doctor's orders. Yep, George's hunting season was a "bust."

But George hops and hobbles around the Hester lawn and you know what? He can't wait till next hunting season.

Pa. Interstate Roads Almost 40% Finished

HARRISBURG (AP) — Approximately 40 per cent of the 1,574 miles of interstate highways in Pennsylvania now are in service, the State Highways Department reported Friday.

The department issued, without comment, charts showing the status of the various roads: under study, in preliminary engineering, under final design, under construction and in service.

It listed 648.1 miles in service. The bulk of it, however, is the main Pennsylvania Turnpike, 326.3 miles. The main east-west trunk of the turnpike was nearly finished when it was included on the federal highway network.

As of Nov. 15, the date on which the charts were based, this was the status of the roads in Pennsylvania, according to the department: study, 80 miles; preliminary engineering, 291.6 miles (including 195 miles which had not reached the state of public hearings); final design, 420.9 miles; under construction, 133.4 miles.

Of the mileage under construction, 35.1 is on the Keystone Shortway and 29.9 on the Cumberland Valley Freeway.

Other roads under construction included:

West Virginia-Washington, Pa., 16.4 miles; Washington, Pa.-New Stanton Turnpike interchange, final 4.5 miles; Pittsburgh-Erie Expressway, 4.1 miles; Anthracite Expressway, 1.3 miles; Penn-Can Expressway, final 5.9 miles; Washington, Pa., south to West Virginia state line, 2.5 miles.

Other Keystone Shortway figures show 6.2 miles are in service (Stroudsburg bypass), 76 in preliminary engineering and 192.2 under final design. The study phase has been completed.

Outskirts Of Capital Held; Airlift Grows

ELIZABETHVILLE, Katanga, the Congo (AP)—U.S. transports resumed flying hundreds of men and fighting equipment to a growing U.N. army as mortar blasts and sniper fire continued to rip the outskirts of this capital of secession Friday.

Brian Urquhart, U.N. political adviser, reported to his New York headquarters that Swedish, Irish and Indian troops were making good progress in "cleaning up the outskirts" of the city and had eliminated all Katanga road-blocks.

Inside the city, however, the Katangans still held several small and two main military strongholds—President Moise Tshombe's palace and the Lido Hotel, which was given up as a rest center by the United Nations on the first day of the fighting Tuesday.

So far the U.N. forces have made no effort to penetrate the center of the city.

Heaviest Combat

The heaviest combat has been in the area of U.N. headquarters, about eight blocks from the center of the city; a traffic circle on the road to the U.N. airport seven miles outside; and an underpass linking the downtown area with the northern suburbs.

But incidents involving bystanders caught in the middle of the second little war between the United Nations and Katanga grew, and Tshombe angrily charged that "cowardly and decadent" Americans were bombing churches, hospitals and schools and killing women and children.

He attributed the deaths of seven civilians to American bombs. No American aircraft have been engaged in combat missions, however.

On the other side of the coin, 300 Congolese students in the central Congo capital at Leopoldville shouted "Vive Kennedy" in a pro-American demonstration after they had showered bricks at the British, French and Portuguese embassies. They battered automobiles, tore down embassy insignia and shouted anti-Tshombe jeers at the British, French and Portuguese embassies.

Badly Damaged

The Prince Leopold Hospital for Africans here was badly damaged by a shower of 50 mortar shells which doctors and nurses said came from Swedish and Irish camps. None of the 700 patients was seriously wounded. U.N. officials said mortar fire had been directed at Camp Tshombe, 800 yards from the hospital.

Wards were wrecked, water pipes broken and trees in the gardens ripped up. There were 47 women in the maternity ward, 30 of them with newborn babies. One woman giving birth, ran away and did not come back.

Mortar shells also landed in an African residential area south of the hospital and Katanga officials said four civilians, including two girls, were killed and a Roman Catholic church hit.

Abdullatif Succar, third-ranking U.N. civilian here, said this mortar firing was a result of Katanga guerrillas installing an observation post on the roof of another hospital near the airport road in defiance of Geneva conventions.

Succar said the observation post was part of a "grandiose plan" Katangan forces made to attack the U.N. force last Tuesday after failing to keep an agreement to remove roadblocks impeding U.N. movements.

Succar said a Seventh-day Adventist mission, which 29 American and other missionaries vacated Thursday night, was in the line of fire for shots aimed at a Katanga mortar battery. U.N. mortars had "taken care of" the battery after evacuation of the mission, he said. But the mission was riddled, its roofs broken and garden torn up before the missionaries got out.

The U.S. airlift from Leopoldville was resumed at dawn after gunfire from Tshombe's residence damaged a Globemaster as it was coming in for a landing Thursday and caused a temporary halt to the operation.

The first planes Friday took off with 200 Irish soldiers, and U.N. officials expected additional Swedish, Irish and Ethiopian troops and Malaysian armored cars.

The operation drew a violent attack from Tshombe who returned Thursday night from a visit to Paris.

In all kinds of weather...

How many times have we walked to church in the snow together . . . and in the rain . . . and in all kinds of weather?

I don't think we've ever stayed home on a Sunday because we were afraid we might get our feet wet. To me, this would be like answering a dinner invitation by saying you couldn't make it unless the sun were shining.

The Church, after all is God's House, and in it I've always felt that I was both a member of the household, and an invited guest.

In this House, you and I have found not only a deeper understanding of each other, but the ability to be tolerant of faults, to forgive and forget smaller angers, and — most important of all — to resolve to try again tomorrow. And this is but a small part of all the Church has given us, and of all that it stands ready to give everyone, everywhere.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Here Comes Hoffa

The (Dave) Beck's Bad Boy of the labor movement, Teamster boss James Riddle Hoffa, is gaining in his drive to get back into the AFL-CIO. The Building Trades Council, a body of unions with a lot of power, has resolved to support readmission.

Hoffa says he has support of other unions, too.

It's easy to see why the AFL-CIO, once so eager to boot him out to clear its good name, is now so eager to embrace him again. It isn't that the Teamsters have reformed. It's that the AFL-CIO is in trouble.

A Fund for the Republic study by a textile union official pointed up that AFL-CIO membership is dwindling, organizing is lagging and representation elections are being lost.

By contrast, the youngish, vigorous Hoffa has a growing union, whatever one may think of his pushy methods and his off-hand manner with finances.

But why would Hoffa want to return after the public humiliation he received from the AFL-CIO? It would cost the Teamsters well over a million dollars a year in dues, and some gesture toward "cleaning up" the Teamsters would have to be made.

Perhaps the explanation lies in Mr. Hoffa's ambitions. It seems unlikely that he would win control of the AFL-CIO, but no more unlikely than that such a man could grasp control of America's largest union and hang on for years while the present labor movement, the Congress and the Attorney General of two administrations tried desperately to break his hold.

George Meany, present AFL-CIO president, is said to be looking to retirement. Walter Reuther, no longer a boy wonder, heads a dwindling Auto Workers union and has alienated many labor bosses whose support he would need to become top dog.

David MacDonald of the Steelworkers and Jim Carey of the Electrical Workers are having serious troubles with their own unions.

A man like Hoffa would see this as an opportunity to become top man. First, he has to get back into the AFL-CIO. He thinks he'll make it, and he's seldom wrong about such things.

Opinions Of Other Editors

Confession Of Prejudice

A shocking confession was made in a Philadelphia court room this week when the chief pathologist of Philadelphia admitted, on the witness stand, that he had listed a false diagnosis in an autopsy report. The fact that this motive, which he also admitted on the stand, was prejudice against the defendant in the case, makes this falsification all the more shocking and serious. The ultimate shock of course, is the circumstance that the false entry was revealed in the course of a trial, in which the victim of that prejudice is in danger of losing his professional standing.

If professional jealousy can operate in such a way, that an eminent specialist will stoop to falsehood in order to put a practitioner he dislikes, or distrusts, into an inhuman situation, which might cause his permanent disgrace, surely there is a wrong set of values dictating his behavior.

The fundamental principle of professional ethics should be truth.

If truth is to be distorted by prejudice, the public cannot trust professional warnings against quacks and charlatans, because the questions will always be raised, "Is this mere prejudice, or can it be accepted as a sincere warning?"

If professional men in such posts as coroner's pathologists cannot be trusted to give a truthful report, untainted by prejudice, the investigation of crimes against society is threatened. Every prosecution can be laid open to doubt, whether it is sparked by the wicked aim of accusing an innocent person or manufacturing evidence against some object of prejudice.

The medical profession in Philadelphia should take prompt steps to make sure that future pathological reports in that city are given in such a way that the public knows they are not dictated by prejudice or convenience.

Reports From Congress

Kennedy Facing Dilemma In 'Anti-Business' Charge

By Congressional Quarterly

Washington — A dilemma as old as the art of politics is now confounding the Kennedy Administration in its efforts to persuade the business community that it is not "anti-business."

As the Administration moves to convince businessmen that its antitrust policy is not simply an anti-business policy, it is increasingly arousing the criticism of antitrust students and lawyers who assert the New Frontier's trust-busting record is already sorely lacking in aggressiveness.

These critics are beginning to complain that they were led to anticipate some vigorous pioneering by the new Administration along antitrust law's gray frontiers — particularly an attack on so-called "administered prices."

So far, they contend, the Administration has simply contented itself with filing "traditional" antitrust cases.

'Economic Racketeers' — The quandary now facing the Administration has its origins in some strong statements made by New Frontier officials shortly after the electrical industry price-fixing convictions in February, following indictments brought under the Eisenhower Administration.

At the time, the Justice Department's antitrust chief, Lee Loewinger, declared that violators of the antitrust laws were simply "economic racketeers" who would be treated as criminals and not as respected businessmen.

Criminal indictments against corporate executives for Sherman Act antitrust violations have been brought in the past. But the sentencing of $125,000 a year executives to jail in the Philadelphia cases ran like a shock wave through the business community.

Assistant Attorney General Loewinger's tough statements caught businessmen in the midst of this traumatic experience, and put them thoroughly on the defensive. Each move in Washington, particularly by the Antitrust Division, began to be interpreted in business circles as another thrust in a concerted anti-business crusade.

In moving to halt these speculations, Administration officials sought to stress that they have only been carrying out responsibilities imposed on them by law.

"Our responsibility is to administer the laws on the books. This is a serious responsibility. We are not launching off into any new areas to please any one group," Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy recently told Congressional Quarterly. In New York Nov. 13, the Attorney General told the Economic Club that enforcement of antitrust law was fundamentally evidence of probusiness not anti-business sentiment.

The Records Compared — The record of new antitrust cases commenced by the Justice Department has been roughly comparable in numbers to that of the opening months of the Eisenhower Administration in 1953. As of Nov. 13, under Attorney General Kennedy, the Justice Department instituted 28 new antitrust proceedings. During its first nine months under Attorney General Herbert Brownell, the Eisenhower Administration filed 23 new cases.

Statistical measures of new cases filed, as Antitrust Chief Loewinger frequently points out, are apt to be misleading. Justice Department officials say their cases have largely been brought against significant companies whereas most of the initial moves by the Eisenhower Administration were against obscure businesses.

These observations have not quieted serious students of antitrust law who criticize Loewinger's record. They say there has never been an effort to apply the Sherman Act's prohibition of combinations in restraint of trade (Section 1) to the giant oligopolistic industries, such as automobiles, steel, aluminum, and drugs, with their parallel prices, nor have many antitrust proceedings even fallen under the basic trust-busting provision of the Sherman Act (Section 2) which forbids "monopolization."

Loewinger, who came to the Antitrust Division from the Minnesota Supreme Court after a career as a trial lawyer, replies that his policy is simply to concentrate on cases he is prepared to litigate fully and which the Division believes have a fair chance of prevailing in court.

Justice Department lawyers say it is one thing to talk and think about "administered prices" and quite a different and more difficult task to prove a price-fixing violation under the Sherman Act's provisions.

At this point there would seem to be little likelihood that the Antitrust Division will undertake major fishing expeditions in the near future.

But will any such assurances help quiet business fears?

As President Kennedy conceded at his Nov. 8 press conference, they probably won't. Asked to give some assurance to businessmen that he was not anti-business, he said: "Well, if to stop them saying we are anti-business, we are supposed to cease enforcing the Antitrust Law, I suppose the cause is lost."

Winchell's Report

A book has finally appeared which answers the apologetics in this country of the Cuban Red dictator, Fidel Castro, who last week publicly admitted: "I have been a Communist since my college days." . . . Daniel James' "Cuba: The First Soviet Satellite in the Americas," just published by Avon Books, takes violent issue with reporters such as Herbert Matthews of the N.Y. Times and sociologists such as C. Wright Mills of Columbia University. And it does so with fact not invective. . . . James' book is by far the best-documented on Cuba and the most authoritative. It also produces more new information on the perverted Cuban Revolution than any other and scores a number of exciting "firsts," some of which follow.

It is the first book to bare the existence of a pact which Castro concluded with the Cuban Communist Party (in the Fall of 1958) while he was still fighting in the mountains and posing as an innocent nationalist, which committed him to Moscow before he took power. . . . The Communist leader with whom he concluded the pact, Carlos Rafael Rodriguez, has reportedly replaced "Che" Guevara as the guiding brain today in the Castro Government.

It is the first book to show that Castro did not turn against the United States because of its policies toward his revolution, but was anti-American before he came to power. . . . When he was in Mexico (in 1956), reports James, he taught his followers that our role in helping liberate Cuba from Spain in 1898 was "imperialist intervention." . . . And—State Dept. please note—all through 1958 Castro made repeated anti-U.S. statements and committed anti-U.S. acts, including kidnapping Navy personnel. . . . Furthermore, his pact with the Communists committed him irrevocably to their international line, whose core is hatred and opposition toward the United States.

It is the first book to nail the Castro lie that he had to seek economic aid from Moscow because we turned him down. . . . Quoting the men who were then Castro's top economic brain-trusters, James proves that, on the contrary, it was Castro who turned down U.S. offers of aid. . . . James discloses for the first time that during Castro's trip to Washington (in April, 1959) he told his Finance Minister (Rufio Lopez Fresquet) not to discuss money with treasury Secretary Robert Anderson during an appointment he had with him. He issued the same orders to other economic brain-trusters he had brought along, such as the President of the National Bank of Cuba Dr. Felipe Pazos. . . . Castro, Senor Fresquet told James, "did not want the world to see that a great democracy was helping Cuba."

He repeated the same procedure a second time that month. . . . After these visits, the Cuban Air Attache (Capt. Manuel Villafana) was approached by his Soviet counterpart who told him he had been instructed to establish a close relationship with Villafana. This "first great act of Cuba-Moscow complicity" occurred, remember, months and months before Castro began accusing us of "economic aggression" or "intervention" against him and one full year before we cut the sugar quota.

Off The Record

By Bob Clark

Ed Strickland, one of the most popular of the area's resort owners, has been hospitalized in Monroe County General Hospital since last week.

Inside informants say that Ed will be home this weekend. We imagine his legion of friends will be happy to learn that the mountain's community leader is well on the road to recovery.

If you walk into Clyde Burke's office at Tabyhanna Signal Depot you will find that the Stroudsburg resident is highly regarded throughout the world.

For example, adorning the wall of the office, of the depot's public information director are citations "for beyond the call of duty" service, including Crusade For Freedom, Red Cross etc.

Burk's pet extra-curricular project at the signal depot is promoting the bi-yearly blood drive. (The Tolyhanna military site is the top supplier of this important fluid around here.)

Incidentally, there is a list of gallon donors in the lobby of the Depot's administration building. Guess who's name heads the list? Your right — Clyde Burke.

Retired automobile dealer Arthur A. Lauffer has been hunting for years but he has never seen the streak of bad luck which confronted him on the opening day of buck season.

Lauffer who loves the woods at this time of the year watched scores of doe pass his territory during his stay in the forest, but nary an antlered animal.

The Broad St. Stroudsburg resident vows, though, he'll get a female one when their day comes due.

George Sokolsky

Socialized Medicine

At every convention of the American Medical Association, the question of socialized medicine arises, the doctors protesting that Congress is trying to pass legislation which will enslave the medical profession. President Leonard W. Larson of the American Medical Association on November 27 said: "We are for a free profession, not an enslaved one. We are for the preservation of our constitutional republic; we are opposed to a welfare state. We are for the right of our citizens to spend their own dollars in their own way, not for Washington authorities to spend their money for them. Our philosophy is wholly positive."

The opposition is to the King-Anderson Bill which Dr. Larson describes as follows:

"The proponents of King-Anderson type legislation have cleverly promoted the false idea that earmarked payroll and employer taxes would be voluntary prepayments against the cost of health care benefits received subsequently in retirement.

"The fact is that the King Bill levies a compulsory tax on young workers and federal employers to pay for a federal program of health benefits for older people, millions of whom are self-reliant and solvent. The King-Anderson program does not provide insurance or prepayment of any type, but compels one segment of our population to underwrite a socialized program of health care for another, regardless of need."

Whereas socialized medicine, in any form, deprives the medical profession of a free wage for its services, it must be admitted that a sharp public opinion is expressing itself against disorderly and unethical conduct in this profession, whether such conduct is wide-spread or is limited to a few scoundrels.

The entire question of medical charges requires study by the medical profession and by Congress. For instance, it is very difficult to decide whether an operation is necessary or is a fraud to produce a large fee. The responsibility is with hospitals to a degree. That is a decent, well-managed hospital will not tolerate improper practices.

This raises another question: the hospitals have limited beds and cannot accept all doctors who would care to serve. What is to become of the so-called unaffiliated doctor? The public does not quite understand this question but it is very important to a physician or a surgeon.

A young man gets out of a medical school and his immediate problem is to become an interne and in time a resident. This means that he cannot earn a living for a period but does have an apprentice's wage. The next step is to be admitted to the staff of an outstanding hospital.

This has its numerical limitations and the young doctor who is unable to get on the staff of a hospital is "unaffiliated." If he gets a patient, he has to find an "affiliated" doctor, who may be a specialist, who will get his patient into a properly managed hospital or if he is in a large city he might make connections with a privately-owned hospital which may or may not be a properly managed institution.

Some of the private hospitals are unfit for any purpose except perhaps as a nursing home. There ought to be some way of formally and legally designating the unsuitable hospitals.

The layman has no way of knowing. He wants to go into a hospital. He finds that every hospital is overcrowded and that he must accept a bed in a ward. He declines to accept a bed in a ward. His doctor sends him to a private hospital which may be owned by doctors or by real estate brokers. The private hospital may have a proper or an unsuitable discipline.

The patient will not know it, but his doctor, physician or surgeon, has limited contacts with other physicians and surgeons and that the specialist will not come at the doctor's call. Some doctors will only work in their own hospital which will not accept the particular patient.

In a word, the subject grows increasingly complicated. The patient is fortunate who has an affiliated doctor who is able to get him into a disciplined hospital where unnecessary operations would lead to trouble, where split fees would not be tolerated (although I am not opposed to split fees if the patient is told about it). The general practitioner ought to receive a decent share of any case in which he does a very large part of the work.

Mrs. Miller quickly replied, "I had a larger ham in mind." The crafty butcher returned the ham to the left side of the case, closed the door, opened the right door, reached in, and brought out his only ham and placed it on the scales again. "That will be $4.80," said he, hopefully.

Mrs. Miller considered a moment, then said, "I'll take both of them."

Inside You And Yours

Not Drunk--Sick!

By Burton H. Fern, M.D.

He was sick; he needed a doctor. But they tossed him into jail!

"Just another drunk," they said.

They didn't know that alcoholism is an illness, which proper treatment can help. Unlike the social drinker, the alcoholic can't stop.

During those early days on bottles full of formula he was somehow shortchanged. Mom and Dad seemed to ration that tender, loving care he craved.

Still hunting and craving that loving protection, he's jolted and buffeted by everyday life. Drinks numb his disappointment.

Bracers build into bottles! The boss complains about his work. His wife nags and friends leave. The bottle becomes his only pal.

Frightful Delirium And even it's two-faced! It won't let him stop without lapsing into a delirium of twisted, grotesque faces and slimy animals. No friendly pink elephants here!

Sedatives and tranquilizers cushion the path out of this jungle. When other medicines turn alcohol into sick-making poison, he can't stand to drink. Even fake pills help, if they're thought to contain the magic drug!

But no medicine really cures. Only he can learn to refuse that first drink which fires up the old craving. A good doctor or sympathetic friend can help him understand, forgive, and once again respect himself.

AA Can Help Friends from Alcoholics Anonymous (AA) help when a sudden craving threatens to overwhelm him. And by helping other members, he earns more self-respect. AA teaches his family patient understanding—vital, should he falter.

A home full of constant nagging and complaining seals his doom. Snarls and spats drive any man to drink.

Alcoholics seem to be allergic to whisky-making grains. When patients were fed some recently, speech slurred, steps staggered and that old craving returned.

Allergy shots may cure tomorrow's alcoholic. But today's still needs understanding, respect and affection.

With oceans of love, he won't crave a single drop!

Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of this newspaper.

Try and Stop Me

"I've got a skunk in my cellar," wailed a housewife over the phone to the police. The officer receiving the call assured her: "Nothing to get excited about. Just make a trail of breadcrumbs from the basement to the yard and wait for the skunk to follow it out."

An hour later, the housewife was back on the phone, more frantic than ever. "I did what you told me," she announced. "Now I've got TWO skunks in my cellar!"

A young mother looked into the nursery and found her 6-year-old son laboriously putting a bandage on his thumb. "What happened?" cried the mother. "I hit it with a hammer," said the boy.

"You poor darling," sympathized Ma. "I wonder why I didn't hear you cry." "What was the use of crying?" explained the boy. "I thought you were out."

Mrs. Hopple had been in failing health for the past two months and was seriously ill the past three weeks.

She was the widow of George Hopple. Born in Newton, N.J., she was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Burt.

Mrs. Hopple, who resided in East Stroudsburg for the past 50 years, was a member of the East Stroudsburg Methodist church and the Palestine Bible Class of the church.

Funeral services will be held Sunday at 2 p.m. from the Lanterman Funeral Home. Interment will be in the Prospect Cemetery. Rev. Harold C. Eaton will officiate.

Friends may pay their respects Saturday from 7 to 9 p.m. at the funeral home.

Mayer Hess, Eastburg RD 2

MAYER 'Max' Hess of Wooddale, East Stroudsburg, RD 2, died yesterday at 5 a.m. in his home.

He was born in England and was a resident of Wooddale the past 25 years. He had previously resided in Philadelphia.

Mr. Hess was employed by Community Jewelers, Stroudsburg.

He is survived by his wife, Helen Way Hess, at home; two brothers, Phillip and Julius Hess, both of England.

Private funeral services will be held at the convenience of the family in the William H. Clark Funeral Home. Following the services cremation will follow in a Wilkes-Barre crematory.

Jersey To Host River Basin Unit

PRINCETON, N. J. (AP)—The new Delaware River Basin Commission will hold its first meeting on Dec. 13 at the Nassau Inn, it was announced Friday.

The commission was created earlier this year with the enactment of the Delaware River Basin Compact by the legislatures of New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania and Delaware and the U.S. Congress.

Gov. Robert B. Meyner will be host to commission members, including U.S. Secretary of Interior Stewart L. Udall and the governors of the three neighboring states, following a morning meeting on the Dec. 13 date.

Santa Claus Gets Various Requests

Question: What would you like Santa Claus to bring you for Christmas?

Place: Main St., Stroudsburg.

Time: 4 p.m.

Mrs. Rosalyn Mugavero, Roseto—"I would like him to bring me a new Chevy Corvette. If he can't get it under the tree he can leave the keys there and a note telling where he parked it."

Mrs. William Feller, Sciota—"All I want is an electric clothes drier. I don't care what brand it is as long as it stops me from going outside to hang clothing in the cold weather."

Rev. Louis Czechowski, Bethlehem—"I would like him to bring world peace. I know it's a large order but he has a wonderful helper—God."

John Frisbie, Stroudsburg—"I'd like Santa to place a portable Hi-Fi phonograph under my tree. I would also appreciate it if he would leave some Hi-Fi records to play on it."

Jack Mullins, Stroudsburg—"I wish he would bring me the nomination from the Republican party as their candidate for State Assemblyman."

Shirley Counterman, East Stroudsburg—"My wish is to make all people happy. I would also like Mr. Claus to bring presents to the needy children of the world."

One Mail Delivery Daily During Christmas Season

THIS Christmas the U.S. Post Office Department has established the objective of delivering all mail on each route in one trip. Postmasters Fred H. Rhodes, of Stroudsburg, and Norman R. Gregory, East Stroudsburg, said last night.

They added, "Although postal patrons will receive only one delivery this Christmas season there will be no delay of mail."

Post offices in Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg have accepted the challenge of accomplishing this goal. But should the mail volume become so heavy that all mail received before the carriers leave on their appointed rounds in the morning and they cannot deliver it the same day, extra trips will be added, they said.

The one trip delivery is to be attempted by a new handling process called "Fusing Mail Program." This permits mail to be merged into one delivery by the carrier.

This method is expected to reduce the added expense of delivering the Christmas mail.

However, two mail deliveries will be continued in the business section of the towns.

The postmasters reminded all patrons to mail early, on or before Dec. 17, and to use the Local and Out of Town labels on letters and cards.

If additional labels are needed stop by either of the post offices and pick up the type needed.

Refreshments will be served.

One Hurt In Rte. 209 Accident

LEHIGHTON — One person was injured in a two-car accident on Route 209, a mile and one-half east of here, at 7 p.m. yesterday.

State Police said a car driven by Robert Stemler, 65, Bowmanstown, rammed the rear of a vehicle driven by Paul D. Sitney, 16, of 224 Bankway St., Lehigh, as Sitney was attempting to make a left turn.

Sitney was admitted to Gnadent-Huettner Hospital here for treatment of a back injury. Troopers said the impact sent the Sitney car over an embankment.

Fish Study Causes Infection

HARRISBURG (AP)—The state Health Department said yesterday a fish commission biologist who investigated a fish kill on the Lehigh River last week found a common acute intestinal infection and not from typhoid fever as was reported unofficially.

Dr. Charles L. Wilbar, health secretary, added in a statement that the possibility was remote that biologist Robert Bielo had contracted the ailment through his work on the fish kill.

Wilbar said laboratory tests showed that Bielo, of East Petersburg, Lancaster County, was afflicted by salmonellosis.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

There may be seven ages of man, but there's an indeterminate number of ages for women depending on the season and the occasion; and the approach of Christmas brings its own particular problems for each age.

For the little girl there's the important decision about what kind of doll she wants this year, baby, bride or the one with all the outfits. For the teen-ager the tug of war between whether she should ask for clothes or something that's more fun.

For young career women there's the problem of finding gifts that look expensive but still fit in their budgets. For young mothers, the task of trying to get the doll clothes made and the toys hidden without the children finding out.

But finally comes the age when the biggest problem facing a woman is what to wear to all the holiday open houses. A suit, one good wool dress, and skirts, sweaters, and blouses will take a woman through most of the local winter — but not through December.

Holiday parties call for something more festive—which is what most wardrobes aren't blessed with—unless you go up to the attic where the net and taffeta creations you used to think so pretty look at once too old for fashion and too young for you.

Actually, it doesn't really matter what you wear, except to you, of course. Most open houses are crowded. Hostesses carefully spread out the hours but guests with a sort of extra-sensory perception all manage to arrive about 15 minutes after the first time listed and have such a good time they don't leave until after the last time listed.

Moreover, the homes are usually lighted with candles or Christmas lights, which are very pretty but also very dim. So unless you have a dress that really will knock their eyes out, nobody much notices what you're wearing. And if you do have such a dress then you can't wear it again because everybody remembers it right away.

Now don't think I am just saying this because I only have one dress of my own, because I am.

Berean Class Entertained By Mrs. Alleger

Bartonsville — Mrs. Daisy Alleger entertained the Berean Class of St. John's Lutheran Sunday School at a Christmas party at her home on Dec. 1. Seasonal hymns were sung and the story of the Nativity, from St. Matthew and St. Luke, was read. Pastor Zuch told a Christmas legend. Johnny Alleger sang several Christmas songs. Gifts were exchanged and it was voted to send a gift of $25 to the Lutheran mission, near Monrovia, Liberia. It was also agreed to pay part of the expense incurred for the Monroe County Home gifts to be presented after the program then on Dec. 17.

Pastor Zuch received a bushel basket of assorted fruits, from the class. Birthday greetings were extended to December birthday celebrants, Margaret Halstead, Anna Ace and Mildred Cyphers. Mrs. Sally Harps invited the group to hold the first meeting of the new year at her home.

Refreshments were served buffet style. Decorations were in the yuletide motif. Those present were, Pastor Robert Zuch, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Marsh, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Dunbar, Mr. and Mrs. John Alleger, Mrs. Archie Ace, Mrs. Thomas G. Hawkes, Mrs. Ethel O'Dea, Mrs. Margaret Halstead, Mrs. Clyde Beehler, Mrs. Daisy Alleger, Mrs. Sally Harps, Mrs. Richard Metzgar, Mrs. Vernon Wallace, Mary Alleger, Patricia Alleger, Johnny Alleger and Joseph Starnier.

Communion Sunday

Bartonsville — The Sacrament of Holy Communion was administered by Pastor Robert Zuch, at St. John's Lutheran Church on the first Sunday in Advent. Altar flowers and bulletins were presented by Mr. and Mrs. Claude Cyphers.

Home From Hospital

Readers—Horace Storm of Readers has been released from the Pennsylvania Hospital, Philadelphia, after a seven-week stay and is now at home.

Miss Grete Ewe

Miss Ewe Engaged To Collegian

McMichaels — Capt. and Mrs. Robert A. Ewe announce the engagement of their daughter, Grete, to William Beck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester H. Beck of 205 Union Avenue, Altoona.

Miss Ewe, a graduate of Chestnut Hill Township High School, is attending East Stroudsburg State College. She will graduate in January 1962 with a B.S. in Education.

Mr. Beck graduated from Hollidaysburg High School and is also a student at the East Stroudsburg State College. The wedding has been planned for August 1962.

Analomink PTA Supper On Tuesday

Analomink—The annual Christmas party of the Analomink Parent-Teachers Assn. will begin with a covered dish supper at 6:15 on Tuesday at the school. Members are asked to bring something for the meal.

There will be an exchange of gifts, not to cost more than 50 cents. At the short business meeting the attendance banners will be awarded.

Cherry Valley WSCS Party

Cherry Valley Women's Society of Christian Service will hold a Christmas party tonight at 7:30 at the church.

Secret pals will be revealed. Anyone not having a secret pal may bring a 50 cent gift for exchange. Each member is also asked to bring sandwiches and

Readings, Music For Wesleyan Guild

Christmas readings and music will mark the meeting of the Wesleyan Service Guild of the Stroudsburg Methodist Church on Tuesday night at 8.

Mrs. Valerie Lee will give a reading. Miss Kathy Kintner will play several accordion solos. Members will also take part in the program.

Members are urged to bring gifts to the meeting when there will be an exchange of $1 gifts.

President Host To Noble Grands

SOUTH STERLING—A Christmas party and business meeting highlighted the December session of the Past Noble Grands of Ladies of Paupack Rebekah Lodge at the home of the president, Mrs. Lewis Osborn.

There was a program of Christmas carols, readings and quizzes, and an exchange of gifts. Refreshments were covered dishes, and assisting hostesses were Marion Gilpin, Agnes Waltz, Edna Malsom, Anna Carlton and Verna Simon.

Present were Verna Simons, Marion Gilpin, Pearl Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Truman Osborne, Mae Gilpin, Mr. and Mrs. John Whitaker, Anna Carlton, Agnes Waltz, Mrs. Charles Smith, Edna Malsom, Lydia Frey, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Bortree, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Smith, Lila Drake, Jennie Carlton, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Robacker, Minnie Ziegler, Marguerite Webster and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Osborn.

The next meeting of the group will be on January 4 at the home of Mrs. Truman Osborne, with Agnes Waltz and Tillie Smith as assisting hostesses.

Recent Bride Is Honored At Shower

A surprise bridal shower was at the home of Velma Hartman for Judy Hindermeyer who became the bride of Terry A. Shoemaker on Dec. 2.

Those present were: Patty Smickley, Marion Hoffman, Claire Shoemaker, Annie Harnold, Lillian Ziegenfuss, Blanche Smickley, Mildred Shoemaker, Faye Durlinham, Marie Bittenbender, Margie Hoffman, Eva Shoemaker, Leonie Gulick, Estella Bittenbender, Peggie Butts, Eileen Gulick, Shirley Deiter, Mary Ann Hulsizer, Millie Deiter, Sandra Hartman, Fred Halstead, Janet Borger, Judy Hindermeyer, and the hostesses, Sara Blakeslee, Nancy Hahn and Velma Hartman.

Music Club Guests To Hear Choir

The Girls Ensemble of Stroud Union High School under the direction of Numa Snyder will present the Christmas program for the Music Study Club of the Stroudsburgs on their meeting Monday night at 7:45 at the Stroud Community House. The night is a change from their regular Tuesday night meetings.

Christmas music will be emphasized. The hymn study will be based on "Of the Fathers Love Begotten."

The meeting is open to all members, former members and guests who are invited to join in the Christmas carols and social which will follow. Members are asked to bring their favorite Christmas cookies for the refreshments.

Garden Club Board Plans Dec. Party

At the December meeting of the Monroe County Garden Club at the YMCA on Thursday, plans were completed for the Christmas meeting on Dec. 21 when The Chorallers of East Stroudsburg High School under the direction of Robert Currier will present a program of Christmas songs.

Mrs. Edgar Van Why presided at the meeting when two new members were accepted: Mrs. Sherwood Samet and Mrs. Helen Butcher. Get-well cards were signed by the board to be sent to Mrs. Arthur Siew who is ill at home and Mrs. W. R. Erickson, who is in the University of Pennsylvania Hospital, Philadelphia.

Several members reported having the Pine Grosbeaks, very rare in this area, at their feeding stations for the past two weeks. One member reported a brown-capped chickadee in addition to the Pine Grosbeaks.

Commend Picture

The board voted that a letter of thanks be sent to the editor of The Daily Record, thanking him for publishing the many "lovely and unusual pictures of birds taken by Roderick MacLeod, staff photographer."

Mrs. Russell Harmon, Mrs. Edward C. Knob and Mrs. Irvin Kiffin, program committee for 1962, outlined tentative programs for the coming year. Mrs. Ell R. Travis was appointed to install officers at the January meeting.

The January board meeting will be a covered dish luncheon on Jan. 4 for the outgoing and incoming committee chairmen and officers.

Present for the board meeting were Mrs. Van Why, Mrs. Harmon, Mrs. Knob, Mrs. Kiffin, Mrs. Ernest Schwartz, Mrs. A. S. Phelps, Mrs. Elwood Grant, Miss Fannie Swartzwelder, Mrs. A. H. Mathieson, Mrs. John Telsler, Miss Anna Courtright, Miss Grace DePue, Mrs. Bernard

The Wyckoff Shopper

"the friendly store"
A.B. Wyckoff
STROUDSBURG, PA.

This is the earliest opportunity I have had to mention the Book Bazaar held last evening, and continuing from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. today at the Arlington Heights School under auspices of the PTA. However, those of you who have been reading the newspaper and listening to the radio are certainly aware that it is in progress, and it is a marvelous opportunity to select truly excellent Children's Books for Christmas giving.

As Audrey Wyckoff (Pete's wife, the general chairman) and Frances Stearns (Dr. Stearn's wife, merchandise chairman) explained on a recent Wyckoff Shopper program, the books have been assembled from merchants of the Stroudsburgs including Wyckoff's; leading publishers, and the Tatamy Book Barn, with the approved lists of outstanding educators and probably child psychologists as guides. As a result, the huge stock is a very diversified one, suited to the reading tastes of every type child at every age level. I understand Mrs. Stearns has also selected a number of volumes that will even be of interest to parents. As a matter of fact, I can't imagine any child's book of fine caliber, well written and well researched, that is not just as entertaining and enlightening to the adult as to the youngster.

It seemed to me, as I grew up, that all children were born with the desire to read, and the love of reading. Sadly enough, this is not true, and I often feel we parents, and perhaps the schools, might do well to spend more time deliberately tempting our children to the book shelves. Along with teaching a child to read, we must accept the fact that, in all too many cases, a child must also be educated to appreciate the joys of reading. The idea is certainly one worth selling a child, and I often wonder if a skilled public relations man or advertising manager couldn't do a terrific job, creating a new interest in reading, if he were assigned the task by some school system or library. If we can sell housewives on new detergents and mops, why wouldn't a well planned campaign entice people of all ages and both sexes to the book shelf? Why wouldn't it draw the public to the good books . . . not necessarily the harder to read classics, but to decent fine, worthwhile books, and away from the nauseous filth that is passing constantly today under the guise of literature? I believe it would . . . and I'm in favor of the project. Wouldn't you be?

All their lives, my children have been surrounded by books . . . not deeply intellectual books, perhaps, but enjoyable, decent books, dealing with hundreds of subjects. No Christmas has passed that at least one desirable book has not been added to our library. It pains me that they would rather watch a television program than read, and that most of their reading is done only when school assignments make it imperative. I feel too, that the schools are unfortunately less strict in what a student may read for a book report than was the case when I was plowing through the "recommended book list" posted by my teachers.

Undoubtedly, books are the finest possible companions. If one is not surrounded by family or human friends, a book is the perfect substitute . . . next to a pet. But pets must be fed, watered, and aired in fair weather or foul, while a book can be forgotten for days at a time, yet it will be as gracious when you again favor it with a glance as the most patient, sainted soul who ever lived. Most of us can no more imagine defacing a book or even discarding one, then we can imagine stabbing a fellow human, or suddenly wiping out a friendship without cause. If you share these sentiments, you will agree there's no finer gift for beneath a Christmas tree than volume after volume of both old favorites and new. Visit Arlington Heights School today — Happy looking — Happy "Booking"!

Boxing Nears Wrestling Status

BOXING IN ITS present state is only a step above pro wrestling, which is a step above nothing.

But there is hope for boxing if a national control group can be formed that will have some power. The National Boxing Assn. supposedly controls boxing but has virtually no power.

The biggest gripe against boxing today is that champions win titles and then defend the crown only against second opponents. The worst position a boxer can occupy now is that of number one challenger. Unless the champion dies or vacates, the number one challenger never gets a shot at the crown.

Sonny Liston of course, is the prime example of an over-looked challenger. Heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson has been ducking Liston much better than Tom McNeely was able to duck Floyd's combination Monday night.

McNeely Broke Challengers' String

By the way, McNeely is the first challenger that hasn't doped Patterson. But McNeely should feel bad, it took such famous sluggers as Roy (Cut and Shoot) Harris and Pete Rademacher to knock down Patterson.

It's hard to feel sorry for Liston, who is on his way to an all-time record for a fighter being arrested. At last count, Liston had been hauled to the station house 18 times or maybe it's 19.

The point is that deserving challengers should get a shot at the title and a beefed up NBA could make this possible.

If the NBA would make it mandatory for a champion to fight every six months for the title against the top challenger, boxing could be revived.

Challengers Must Follow Suit

If a champion wanted to fight anyone besides the number one challenger, it would have to be a non-title affair. By the same token, the number one challenger would have to give the number two challenger a crack at his spot and so on down the ladder.

If the champion failed to defend his title in the prescribed time, he would lose the crown and the top four challengers would hold an elimination tournament for the title.

The NBA does have a six-month defense rule now but has yet to enforce it.

A stronger NBA might be the answer to boxing's problems but the positive answer is to ban the sport or demote it to pro wrestling's status. Floyd the Glass Chin could take on Sonny the Cop Hater in the first attraction.

Folley Named Month's Top Boxer; Moore Gets Second

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP) — Heavyweight Zora Folley of Chandler, Ariz., Friday night was named boxer-of-the-month by the National Boxing Association.

Folley pulled the upset of the year in knocking Henry Cooper out of a possible title match with champion Floyd Patterson with his sensational two-round knock-out of the British titlist in London last Tuesday night.

Folley, advancing from eighth to fifth in the NBA November rankings, beat out Davey Moore, featherweight champion from Springfield, Ohio, for the award. Moore added to his stature by his successful defense against Kazuo Takayama of Japan in Tokyo three weeks ago.

Cooper Dropped

As a result of his loss, Cooper dropped from fourth to eighth in the rankings announced by Tony Petronella, chairman of the NBA's rating committee. Former champion Ingemar Johansson of Sweden dropped from third to fourth in another shift in the heavyweight ratings. Alejandro Lavorante of Argentina, who kayaked Folley a few months back, advanced from fourth to third.

Early Spurt Beats Green Knights 71-66

PEN ARGYL — Copley High pushed a 19-9 first period lead and hung on for a 71-66 Lehigh-Northampton League basketball victory Friday night.

It was the second loss against one victory for the Green Knights, who trailed throughout the game. The Knights managed to pull within two points on several occasions.

John Superska paced Copley with 23 points, on 10 field goals and three foul shots. Tom Kucis added 12 for the winners. Roger Snyder was the top point maker for the Knights with 19 points. Snyder had seven field goals and five foul points. Dave Uliana added 13 points and sophomore Dave Turzilo hit 11.

The Knights looked as if they might catch Copley in the second quarter, when they scored 24 points, to cut the lead to 36-33. The two teams traded buckets for the rest of the game but the first period spurt paid off for the visitors.

Copley won the junior varsity pre-lim 70-41.

Rovers Get 19 Straight Easton Slams Mounties 91-42 With Blazing Start

EASTON High School reeled off 19 straight points to open the game and went on to trample Stroud Union 91-42 Friday night in the Mounties' gym.

It was the first defeat for the Mounties, who opened the season Tuesday by whipping Pleasant Valley.

The well-balanced Rovers attack, clicking off points almost as fast as the scoreboard clock clicked off the seconds never let the Mounties get their attack going.

It was 19-0 before Stroud Union scored a point and by the end of the opening quarter, the Rovers had put together a 29-4 lead.

First Point

The Mounties got their first point on a foul shot by Warren Loney, with 2:44 seconds left in the 10 minute period.

It wasn't until the 5:27 mark of the second period that the Mounties got their first bucket. It came on a banked in jump shot by Henry Ray.

Until that time the closest Stroud Union came to a field goal was a lay up shot by Jack Imbt that rolled off the rim.

The Mounties managed only two more field goals in the first half. Ray added one and Dave Pierson got the other.

Stroud Union scored only 12 field goals in the rout, with Ed Nevil and Ray getting three each. Loney was the high scorer for the Mounties. The senior outside man had 15 points. Loney connected on 11 of 17 foul shots. Nevil had eight points and Ray seven.

Big Lead

Easton, which led 43-15 at the half scored 38 field goals and added 15 foul shots.

Tony Relvas led the Rovers with 27 points. Relvas scored 13 field goals, mostly on lay-ups and added a lone foul shot.

Tony Renaldi added 20 points and controlled both backboards. The Rovers used 10 players, with every man getting in the score column.

The second period was the only quarter the winners failed to score 20 or more points. The Mounties' best period was the fourth, when they connected for 14 points.

Rack Zone

Easton picked Stroud Union's zone defense to pieces early in the game.

Relvas, Renaldi and Tom Wells, who ended with 13 points, worked a baseline cut play that completely baffled the Mounties.

One of the three would drive up the middle, until the Mountie zone closed in. Then the other two Rovers broke in from the corners to receive passes and connected on lay-ups.

The play worked so effectively that the Rovers did not have to take an outside shot in the first period.

Can't Connect

Easton used a combination zone and man-to-man defense that kept the Mounties outsidies for most of the game. The Mounties could not find the range from beyond the foul circle but had some success in getting through on drive shots. However, Easton was guilty of foul on most of the drives. But Stroud Union could connect on only 18 of 42 free throws and the game was over almost as soon as it began.

The Rovers' JV squad posting a 48-26 win in the preliminary, holding the Mounties scoreless in the third period.

Ryans Get 15 Each

Pocono Defeats Weatherly 52-47 For Initial Triumph

SWIFTWATER — Pocono Mountain High School held off a stubborn Weatherly team Friday night for a 52-47 victory.

It was the first win for the Cardinals, who lost their opener Tuesday to Southern Wayne.

The Ryan twins, John and Norbert led the Cards scoring with 15 points each. Both players accounted for their totals through the same route. Each had five field goals and five foul shots.

Dunlap Adds 12

Ralph Dunlap added 12 points to the winner's attack. Dunlap also had field goals.

Henry Hinkle was the high man for Weatherly with 14 points, followed by Tom O'Donnell and Chip Hartz with 11 points each.

Weatherly outscored Pocono from the floor 21-18 but managed only five of 16 foul shots for a miserable 31 per cent. Pocono connected on 16 of 20 free tosses.

Pocono never trailed in the game, although Weatherly managed to knot the score at 17-all at the end of the first period. The Cards built their edge in the second period, when they outscored the Panther Valley team 14-10. It was 31-27 at the half and 40-35 at the three-quarter mark.

Both teams hit for 12 points in the final period, to bring coach Harry Werkheiser his first victory at the new jointure.

Norb Ryan and Ed Luck controlled the backboards for the Cards, who are playing an independent team this season.

The Cards also won the junior varsity clash, 32-27.

Gotham Tilt Tops Opening Bowl Battles

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Utah State and Baylor headline the action Saturday as postseason college football makes its first big splurge with six bowl games.

Utah State's Aggies and the Baylor Bears match their contrasting styles in the first Go-Down Bowl at New York's Polo Grounds. This one will be carried on network television (ABC, 1:15 p.m. EST; and with good weather forecast, could attract a crowd of 20,000.

Also on the Saturday bowl schedule — New Mexico (6-4) vs. Western Michigan (5-3) in the Aviation Bowl at Dayton, Ohio; Pittsburg (Kan.) State (10-0) vs. Linfield (Ore.) (10-0) for the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics title in the Camelia Bowl at Sacramento, Calif.; Florida A&M (9-0) vs. Jackson (Miss.) State (9-1) for the mythical Negro college title in the Orange Blossom Classic at Miami; the Quantic Marines (9-3) vs. the Ft. Eustis Army team for the armed forces championship in the Missile Bowl at Orlando, Fla., and Cameron (Okla.) Junior College (10-0) vs. Bakersfield (Calif.) Junior College (9-0) in the Junior Rose Bowl at Bakersfield, Calif.

Played Tie

Utah State won nine games and played a 6-6 tie with Wyoming during the regular season, gain the Skyline Conference co-championship with Wyoming. The Aggies show impressive credentials both on attack and defense, with a massive line led by All-American tackle Merlin Olsen (6-foot-5, 265) and a nimble offense sparked by quarterback Tommy Larseheid.

Baylor, hobbled by injuries through most of the season but sound now, won five and lost five. The Bears will pit their typical hell-for-leather Southwest Conference play against Utah State's ball-control game. Ron Bull, a quick and powerful 190-pound halfback, is Baylor's standout.

New Mexico and Western Michigan also promise a battle of opposites in the Aviation Bowl. The Lobos have a strong running game paced by Bob Santiago and Bob Morgan, while Western Michigan relies heavily on the passing of Ed Chlebech.

Pittsburg finished as the nation's top small college team and Linfield ranked seventh. Both won playoffs to gain the NAIA title game.

Ft. Eustis will be out for revenge as well as the armed forces title against Quantic. The Marines beat the soldiers during the regular season 9-7 on a disputed touchdown. Former Miami (Fla.) star Fran Curci quarterbacked the Ft. Eustis squad.

Banbung Rallies

TOKYO (AP)—Somvong Banbung, Thailand's flyweight champion, rallied for a 10-round decision Friday night over Katsuo Haga of Japan. The Thai trailed during the early rounds but then took charge with a two-fisted attack of Haga's head and body for the come-from-behind victory.

Somvong weighed 115 pounds to 117 for Haga.

Lucas Leads

Ohio State

Past Wichita

*COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State broke Wichita's four-game winning streak 85-62 Friday night with Buckeye Jerry Lucas contributing 27 points despite a heavily bandaged right knee.

It was the third straight victory for the top-ranked Buckeyes.

Lucas, an All-America the last two years, played less than 23 minutes of the one-sided contest. He has been suffering from recurring knee trouble.

The Buckeyes broke open the game with a fast-break attack in the second half. They had a 40-29 lead at half-time.

Lanny Van Eman paced Wichita's attack with 21 points.

Davis, Buck Back Head East Team

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Shrine East-West football game Dec. 30 shapes up as a battle between Eastern running power and Western passing.

The 24-man West squad includes Mel Melin of Washington State and John Hadl of Kansas, two of the nation's top quarterbacks, and a flock of fast, sure-handed pass receivers.

The West receiving corps includes Oscar Donahue and Mack Burton of San Jose State, Buddy Iles of Texas Christian, Kent Petersen of Oregon, Curtis McClinton of Kansas and Bobby Lane of Baylor.

The East, quarterbacked by Roman Gabriel of North Carolina State and Ron Miller of Wisconsin, can pass the football around in a spectacular fashion too.

But with bruising runners like All-American Bob Ferguson of Ohio State and Ernie Davis, the Heisman Trophy winner from Syracuse, the East figures to try and blast their ground game past those big West linemen.

The betting experts say he will fail. Fullmer is a 3-1 favorite.

The 15-round encounter, for Fullmer's National Boxing Association crown, is slated to go on in Convention Center at 10 p.m. EST, with ABC televising it.

This will be the seventh defense of the title for the personable 30-year-old Mormon elder from West Jordan, Utah, since he won it from Carmen Basilio in San Francisco in August 1959.

Paret, 24, will not be risking his role as ruler of the 147-pound division. But he will claim both titles if he whips Fullmer.

He will be so recognized in Nevada, an NBA state, and apparently there is no regulation against a dual champion in the NBA books.

Neither fighter is expected to have any trouble making the 160-pound limit, certainly not Paret. It was in this same Convention Center that Paret won the welterweight title from Don Jordan in 15 rounds in May 1960.

And it was here, too, that Fullmer slammed back another bid by Sugar Ray Robinson for the middleweight title last March 4.

Physically, Fullmer and Paret are fairly well matched. Their reach is the same, 69 inches, and Gene at 5-foot-8 is half an inch taller.

Post Victory

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — Duke's basketball Blue Devils, paced by the brilliant duo of Art Heyman and Jeff Mullins, roared to a big first half lead Friday night and crushed the University of Louisville 86-56.

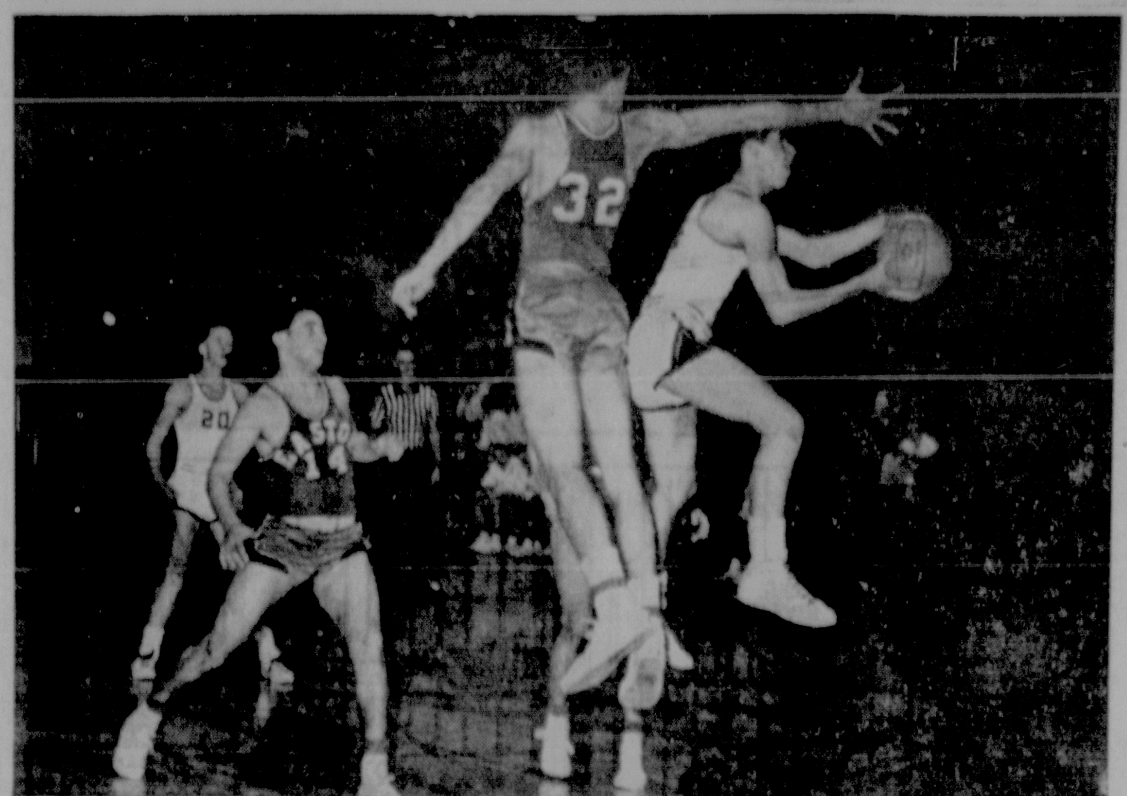

Heyman scored 33 points and Mullins 26, and between them they pulled down 30 rebounds.

Duke piled up a 46-27 lead at the half.

Bud Olsen, Louisville's big man, scored 21.

Mrs. Wells Named Head Of Committee

MRS. SAMUEL Wells, III was appointed nominating committee chairman made yesterday by Mrs. John S. Cartwright, president of the Board of Directors of the Lehigh Valley Social Service Exchange.

Named to serve with Mrs. Wells were Miss Sara E. Harrington, executive director of Lehigh County Chapter, American Red Cross, and Mrs. John S. Smyser, a home and school visitor of the Bethlehem School District.

As the terms of seven of the directors expire as of June 1, 1962, nominating committee will prepare a slate of nominees to be voted upon by the 85-member agencies of the Exchange next April.

Mrs. Robert P. Mekeel is one of the directors whose term expires next year. The slate of nominees for officers of the board will be presented by the nominating committee at the June, 1962 meeting of the board.

Isotope Returned

LONDON (AP) — A radioactive isotope, stolen from an auto in London, yesterday, has been found. Police had broadcast warnings that the legs that the isotope had been found in were highly dangerous. It was found last night near Thames wharf.

Dr. Daniel Arib, a representative of General Radiological, Ltd., from whose car the container was stolen, said, "It appears to have been thrown from a car."

Your Horoscope

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 9, 1961

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Key disposition smooth, steady on time necessary tasks and you will enjoy a profitable (if not wholly interesting) period. News should encourage greater effort. Brighten today.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus)—Stimulating on whole for you of interestingly enterprising outlook. Promote individualism and self-assertion in proper proportions. Day should mean more than just falling in line.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini)—Revising advantages, but must be dug out. Be resolute, with sincere assurance. Gushing, ill-timed force hinder. Facts not fancy called for. In free time, relax, regain energies.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Have a balanced day. Sparkling influences for deserving endeavors. Nothing improves when you assist intelligently. Watchwords: persistence, exercise, respect for others' part of program.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo)—Pleasant Sun (ideal) for alert, in newly advantageous aspect. Incorporate suggestions with merit into routine. When duties are finished, indulge something to relax mind and body sensibly.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)—Day in winning column with your earnest day. But some of our finest rewards don't immediately show. Concentrate on a capable performance, exercise sufficiently, listen to young heads.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Athletic firmity to right principles and have more inspiring, enervating period—will carry over to later weeks. Take diet, health needs, due projects in stride, with your normal pains taking.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio)—Pleasant if not tremendously encouraging. Returns depend largely upon how you plan and execute activities. Much to be achieved in right desires. Be genial, also acquisitive.

November 24 to December 21 (Sagittarius)—Jupiter in prominent position in your sector. Splendid compensations permeate the atmosphere. Push ahead sagely but with gumption. Slowly in some matters, to avoid misuse, errors.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn)—Not wholly promising, nor all disturbing. Behaves one to be cautious in investments, all-heating efforts an untired vent. Get things ready for a clean state Monday.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius)—Like Capricorn, though possible endeavors prior to embracing. Finish incomplete tasks; don't fret or be too meticulous. Warmly approved; A busy free time with loved ones.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces)—Very propitious rays (planet Neptune). China in with your perspective plans, exploit ideas. Familiar activities should have smoothly, make sure without pressure, anxiety.

YOU BORN TODAY are versatile, instructions, generous, sympathetic. Some seeming complexities in your nature, principally because you are interesting, imaginative, wholely fast. You possess ability to "sell" your wares and self. A tendency to be inconsistent. If you permit the heart to rule the head, be wary of those who "double-makers, stress and gloom. Wise not to look too often into the past, except to recall or appreciate happy incidents. You normally visualize your objective clear away unrelated details, and proceed to achieve to accomplish what you have set out. Hissings! Birthdate of John Milton, famous poet, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., actor; Joel Chandler, author.

ESSC Invites Community To Dec. 17 Christmas Event

A CONCERT BAND and three choral groups from the East Stroudsburg State College will render Christmas music, and a world-renowned organist from Quebec and New York will give a concert on Sunday, Dec. 17, from 3 to 5 p.m. in the college auditorium. Members of the community are invited to attend, along with students and faculty.

Walters' "Christmas Suite" will be played by the band, directed by George L. Meyer of the music department. A number of familiar carols, lesser known songs and classical numbers will be sung by the college choir, the women's chorus and the male chorus, under the direction of ESSC professor, Wilfred G. Clelland.

Gerard Caron, who is presently organist at the French Cathedral in New York City, will play the electronic organ which was purchased for the college last year by the alumni association.

Caron, a native of Quebec, Canada, began his musical studies at the Conservatory of Music in Montreal; he was awarded a scholarship by the government of Quebec for study in New York with Dr. Charles M. Courbois, organist of St. Patrick's Cathedral. He continued his studies in Europe, working with, among others, German, the organist of St. Peter's in the Vatican.

He is coming to ESSC through the invitation of Donald H. Fritts of the English department.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every other of your key numbers left or right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

IOCC Seeks Import Cut

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—The Interstate Oil Compact Commission asked yesterday that oil imports be reduced promptly.

The 33-state body also gave unanimous approval to a compromise settlement of a dispute over equitable sharing of the domestic crude market by all producing states.

The imports resolution was the strongest ever adopted by the 27-year-old advisory group on oil and gas conservation. It asked that prompt and effective action be taken to reduce and stabilize imports so as to prevent the weakening of state conservation programs.

Gov. J. Howard Edmondson, D-Okla., was elected the 1962 compact chairman and immediately termed the question of imports the domestic industry's No. 1 problem.

Allen To Go Collegiate

Steve Allen stars in "Campus USA," a bright amalgam of show business and academic life originating from the University of California at Los Angeles, to be presented on "The New Steve Allen Show," Wednesday, Dec. 27 (ABC-TV, 7:30-8:30 p.m., EST), it was announced by Thomas W. Moore, ABC Vice President in Charge of Programming. Also starring in "Campus USA" will be the singing idols of the younger set, Connie Francis and Frankie Avalon. From Allen's group there will be Bill Dana and Les Brown and his Band of Renown.

Our Hearts belong to BABY
I am Angela Babysitter and this is the little fellow who's Mommy went Christmas Shopping this morning. I love to stay with Tommy. It's fun to be with him. We share many things together. Tommy's Mommy and Daddy have been invited out for New Year's Eve. I'm the lucky babysitter who played an ad in the special section under "Who Can Do It." If I hadn't I'd miss out on a wonderful experience. Do you have time to spare? Try babysitting! Children are wonderful.
Call HA 1-7349 to solve mommy's problem. Your baby sitter ad will appear the next day. Line up jobs for yourself over the holidays. It's easy with a Daily Record want ad.
